Trading the Energy Markets: Practical Ideas for Trading Oil Tomorrow

Presenter: Ward Chambers, Chief Investment Strategist, CFTI Trading

Location: ICE Booth 430

The energy complex impacts us more than nearly any other market. Many analysts believe the world is running out of easily accessible oil, and that without the discovery of major new reserves, oil's move from $70-$147 per barrel will seem insignificant.

Ward Chambers believes if you learn proper positioning, trade structure, and risk management, you could be setting yourself up for positive returns. This Energy Futures and Options Workshop will give you a brief history of the oil market and practical ideas about how to trade oil tomorrow, regardless of up or down moves.
